ORCA'S HI-LO BOOKS ARE

ULTRA-READABLE!

ORCA'S ULTRA-READABLE FORMAT

So. Here I am. Stuck in this line, waiting to pay. My head is down. My eyes are on my tray. I'm doing my best not to look around. I don't want to know if anyone is watching me. I don't want to know if anyone is not watching me. That would be worse. The other kids pretending like they can't see me. Like they don't know who I am or what happened five months ago.

Because five months ago is when Stacey died.

No, says a voice in my head. That's not quite right, is it?

Five months ago is when Stacey killed herself. She ate a whole bottle of her uncle's sleeping pills. Then she drank most of a bottle of rum. Maybe she left behind the pain she always talked about when she was alive. But she left me behind too.

If I sound like I'm pissed off, it's because I am. I'm mad. I'm sad. I don't sleep. My stomach hurts, and I feel guilty 100 percent of the time. Stacey's gone. And I don't know how to get over it.

- Larger trim size
- Dyslexia-friendly, more readable font
- Increased word and line spacing
- Cream-colored paper minimizes contrast to help readers focus

"All my stuff is gone," Mara says. "All my mom's stuff."

I take her hand and squeeze it. She squeezes back.

"I hope the cats are okay," Mara says. "They were outside."

"They'll be fine," I say. I don't know why. I have no reason to think that. It seems Mara wants to hear it though.

"Probably harassing wildlife as we speak," Mara says.

"Poor squirrels," I say.

We both laugh and it feels good. The dark seems a little less scary.

Mara turns us onto the main road. "Your house is up this way, right?" she asks.
